A Message from Sassy's 2 Girls

This is Sassy, our mom. Actually, she was born Sheila Braniff, but her grandkids call her Sassy, and the name fits. We miss her every day. Sheila was a gifted teacher and a loving mother who could laugh at herself and see the best in others. We started this project to honor her and all of the people who went out of their way to show her that they loved her when she was sick - those who wrote cards, or brought meals, or made her laugh that wonderful laugh. Mom's favorite hymn says, "Because I have been given much, I too must give." We have such gratitude for the blessing and guiding influence she has been in our lives. We were truly "given much" in the mother department, and started Sassy Caps to follow her example of giving.

Sassy
caps

soft & fun hats for fabulous people in chemo.

What is a Sassy Cap?

Sassy caps are...

SOFT - Sassy Caps can be knit, crocheted, or sewn, but they need to feel soft against bare skin – nothing itchy or irritating.

FUN - Sassy Caps aren't boring. They are in bright, fun colors or patterns with a little bit of flair. No grays or hospital pastels unless you add a fun accent (like animal print, feathers, or sparkle) to jazz it up and make it sassy.

GIFTS - Sassy Caps are handmade and donated to friends, family, and treatment centers to brighten the day of people undergoing chemotherapy.

You can make a Sassy Cap any way you like and give it anywhere in the world, as long as it fits these three criteria. See sassycaps.org for patterns & tutorials.

What do I do with the caps I make?

1. Place your completed SOFT and FUN handmade cap in a clear sandwich bag.
2. Visit sassycaps.org to download a printable label
3. Fill in your name, place the label on the bag and... Voila! Your cap is now officially a Sassy Cap & ready to give away.

How can I get a Sassy Circle started in my community?

By creating a Sassy Cap, you join a network of nationwide volunteers dedicated to brightening people's days, lifting their spirits (and covering their heads)!

You may choose to make Sassy Caps on your own and give them one by one to friends and neighbors, but it's also fun to do with a group. Some volunteers choose to organize a "Sassy Circle" to collect larger donations for treatment centers. Here are some ideas to help you get a Sassy Circle started in your area...

- Begin by making a cap
- "Like" Sassy Caps on Facebook and use social media to post pictures of the caps you create to see if any of your friends are interested in joining you.
- Place brochures at local yarn & craft supply stores
- Put a container out at work, school, or church to collect caps that others make & donate. Include sandwich bags and labels in the basket for packaging
- Make connections with local treatment centers to find one that will accept the donations. Invite members of your Sassy Circle to go with you to make the deliveries
- Share your experiences with us on the Sassy Caps Facebook page
